12 August 2017

The peak industry bodies for lighting and facility management in Australia are pleased to announce a major exhibition and conference during the 2017 Vivid Sydney festival.

sparc-FMA International Lighting & Facilities Event (sparc-FMA) will be held at the new International Convention Centre at Darling Harbour over three days (30 May-1 June) in the very heart of Vivid Sydney.

sparc-FMA is a joint initiative of Lighting Council Australia and the Facility Management Association of Australia.

The event will feature an exhibition showcasing the latest in lighting and facility management innovation from Australia and globally. Australian and international suppliers and service providers will be showing the latest developments. sparc-FMA will also feature a conference involving world-renowned experts in the fields of lighting and facility management.

Lighting Council Australia's CEO Bryan Douglas said that facility management and lighting are highly complementary industries and that the combined event represents an excellent opportunity for Australia's lighting industry.

Nicholas Burt, CEO of the Facility Management Association of Australia, said that sparc-FMA will be Australia's largest and most significant event for the facility management and lighting industries. He said that the event will benefit by being owned and managed by the two industries – an event operated by industry, for industry. Events such as this run by industry bodies contribute to sustaining industry development.

Expressions of interest in participating in sparc-FMA may be lodged via the temporary website at www.sparcfmaevent.org
